Keeping Standards up-to-date

Standards are living documents which reflect progress in science, technology and systems. To maintain their currency, all Standards are periodically reviewed, and new editions are published. Between editions, amendments may be issued. Standards may also be withdrawn. It is important that readers assure themselves they are using a current Standard, which should include any amendments which may have been published since the Standard was purchased.

Detailed information about joint Australian/New Zealand Standards can be found by visiting the Standards Web Shop at www.saiglobal.com or Standards New Zealand web site at www.standards.govt.nz and looking up the relevant Standard in the on-line catalogue.

For more frequent listings or notification of revisions, amendments and withdrawals, Standards Australia and Standards New Zealand offer a number of update options. For information about these services, users should contact their respective national Standards organization.

We also welcome suggestions for improvement in our Standards, and especially encourage readers to notify us immediately of any apparent inaccuracies or ambiguities. Please address your comments to the Chief Executive of Standards Australia or the New Zealand Standards Executive at the address shown on the back cover.

PREFACE

This Handbook was prepared by working group EL 023-00-03 on behalf of the Joint Standards Australia/Standards New Zealand Committee EL-023, Electrical Equipment in Mines and Quarries. The working group recognizes the work completed on this Handbook by the previous Committee, EL 003-13.

The objective of this Handbook is to provide practical guidance on the management of electrical cables in mines and quarries and the health and safety of personnel.

This Handbook should be read in conjunction with the relevant Australian Standards applicable to mining cables and cable terminating devices.
