Keeping Standards up-to-date

Standards are living documents which reflect progress in science, technology and systems. To maintain their currency, all Standards are periodically reviewed, and new editions are published. Between editions, amendments may be issued. Standards may also be withdrawn. It is important that readers assure themselves they are using a current Standard, which should include any amendments which may have been published since the Standard was purchased.

Detailed information about Standards can be found by visiting the Standards Web Shop at www.standards.com.au and looking up the relevant Standard in the on-line catalogue.

Alternatively, the printed Catalogue provides information current at 1 January each year, and the monthly magazine, The Global Standard, has a full listing of revisions and amendments published each month.

Australian Standards<sup>TM</sup> and other products and services developed by Standards Australia are published and distributed under contract by SAI Global, which operates the Standards Web Shop.

We also welcome suggestions for improvement in our Standards, and especially encourage readers to notify us immediately of any apparent inaccuracies or ambiguities. Contact us via email at mail@standards.org.au, or write to the Chief Executive, Standards Australia, GPO Box 476, Sydney, NSW 2001.

PREFACE

This Standard was prepared by the Joint Standards Australia/Standards New Zealand Committee MT-007, Non-Destructive Testing of Metals and Materials, at the request of the Australian Aerospace Non-destructive Testing Committee (AANDTC) to supersede AS 3669—2004.

After consultation with stakeholders in both countries, Standards Australia and Standards New Zealand decided to develop this Standard as an Australian Standard rather than an Australian/New Zealand Standard.

The objective of this Standard is to specify the requirements for the qualification and registration of personnel in the aerospace industry.

The objective of this revision is to make AS 3669 technically equivalent to EN 4179 and NAS 410.

During the preparation of this Standard cognisance was taken of the following documents from other Standards organizations:

EN

4179 Aerospace Series—Qualifications and approval of personnel for non-destructive testing (February 2003).

NAS

410 Revision 2—Certification and qualifications of non-destructive test personnel (February 2003).

The terms ‘normative’ and ‘informative’ have been used in this Standard to define the application of the appendix to which they apply. A ‘normative’ appendix is an integral part of a Standard, whereas an ‘informative’ appendix is only for information and guidance.
