Review of Standards. To keep abreast of progress in industry, Joint Australian/New Zealand Standards are subject to periodic review and are kept up to date by the issue of amendments or new editions as necessary. It is important therefore that Standards users ensure that they are in possession of the latest edition, and any amendments thereto.

Full details of all Joint Standards and related publications will be found in the Standards Australia and Standards New Zealand Catalogue of Publications; this information is supplemented each month by the magazines 'The Australian Standard' and 'Standards New Zealand', which subscribing members receive, and which give details of new publications, new editions and amendments, and of withdrawn Standards.

Suggestions for improvements to Joint Standards, addressed to the head office of either Standards Australia or Standards New Zealand, are welcomed. Notification of any inaccuracy or ambiguity found in a Joint Australian/New Zealand Standard should be made without delay in order that the matter may be investigated and appropriate action taken.

PREFACE

This Standard was prepared by the Joint Standards Australia/Standards New Zealand Committee ME/67, Mobility Appliances for People with Disabilities. It is based on and has been reproduced from ISO 7176-14:1997 of the same title. In Australia, it replaces AS 3696.14(Int)—1991, Wheelchairs, Part 14: Power and controls—Electric wheelchairs which was withdrawn in 1995.

The objective of this Standard is to provide a specification for minimum design, safety and performance requirements for power and control systems of electric wheelchairs, for the use of manufacturers, testing authorities and purchasers.

For the purposes of this Standard, the ISO text is amended, supplemented or replaced as set out in Appendix ZZ. These changes are indicated by a marginal bar against the relevant clause or part thereof affected.

As this Standard is reproduced from an international publication, the following applies:

- (a) Its number appears on the cover and title page while the International Standard number appears only on the cover.
- (b) In the source text, 'this part of ISO 7176' should read 'this part of AS/NZS 3696.'
- (c) A full point substitutes for a comma when referring to a decimal marker.

References to international Standards should be replaced by Australian/New Zealand Standards, as follows:
