Introduction

The use of facilities for users of roller sports equipment is connected with sporting risks. Sporting skills and the use of appropriate protective equipment essentially reduces the risk of accident.

It is not the intention of this standard to specify every possible shape and construction of facilities for users of roller sports equipment.

For supervised practices, facilities for users of roller sports equipment (competitions, demonstrations, training and initiation) having different dimensions and thus also increased risks, are also acceptable within the frame of legal provisions (e.g. regional building regulations).

The development of facilities for users of roller sports equipment is in constant evolution, therefore, some specific structures are not considered in this European Standard. For all such structures the general requirements apply.

This European Standard does not specify specific requirements for combinations.
